STEVENSON HONORED BY STATE ASSOCIATION

Marshall Stevenson, Pasquotank County resident and chairman of the Pasquotank county commissioners, was recently honored for his outstanding participation as a council member by the North Carolina Association of Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Councils. Stevenson was recognized for his “strong leadership as Chairman of the Albemarle RC&D Council and as President of the NC Association of RC&D Councils as well as his commitment to the RC&D program and its mission”. Mr. Stevenson has served on the Albemarle RC&D Council, based in Edenton, since 2004. He was elected by his peers to the state association executive board in 2007. Stevenson accepted this award at the recent annual meeting held in Asheville.

The 10 RC&D Councils in North Carolina partner with local governments, other non-profit groups, universities and other organizations to design and implement projects that balance conservation of natural resources with economic and community development. The new state association website, www.ncarc.org, provides information about projects that have been completed or are in progress across the state.
